

Miss Vivian Neilly W. H. Stoddart Ross Collins Herb McKenzie

W. H. Stoddart, secretary of the Sisman Shoe Co., Aurora, was carrying the company pay-roll last Friday at the time of the armed hold-up. Bandits were waiting inside the office entrance for Mr. Stoddart and bookkeeper Vivian Neilly. Ross Collins and Herbert McKenzie, Sisman office workers, ran to the window in time to catch the bandits' license number on the stolen car.

The hold-up was made inside the office entrance at the Sisman plant on Mosley St. The hold-up men snatched the pay-roll, fled to the street and made their get-away in a car stolen from North York. They went west and later their car became stuck on the Mulock sidroad.

Joe Bennett

Bennett, who has been helping on the farm of Jim McMorrin, Snowball, had parked his truck on the Mulock sidroad where bandit car became stuck. The two thieves asked him for a lift to Toronto and he later let them out at St. Clair and Bathurst.

Sisman's Payroll Hold-up Bold Action, Easy Escape

Two men held up W. H. Stoddart, secretary treasurer of the T. Sisman Shoe Co., Aurora, Friday and escaped with a box containing the company's payroll. There was $7,000 in the payroll. The armed robbers made an easy escape by hitching a ride to Toronto in a truck.

Entering the main factory first at 1.10 p.m. the two men stopped A. M. Graham, company foreman, and asked him to direct them to the Johnson Aluminum Factory. "It sounded like a silly question and I said I'd never heard of the place," said Mr. Graham. As he walked away, Mr. Stoddart, accompanied by bookkeeper Miss Vivian Neilly, entered the building and started up the stairs leading to the offices on the second floor. Miss Neilly went on ahead and heard the men ask Mr. Stoddart the same question. He also answered that he had never heard of such a factory in Aurora.

"This is a hold-up," said one of the men.
"You're kidding," replied Mr. Stoddart who continued up two or three steps. One of the men then pulled a gun and the second man snatched the box from under Mr. Stoddart's arm. Both ran quickly out the door.
"Bill kept his head," said John Sisman, president of the company. "He ran up the stairs shouting 'It's a hold-up, call the police.'"

Two employees, Herb McKenzie and Ross Collins, who heard the commotion, dashed to the window and were able to see the men and get the license number of the car. It was later discovered the car had been stolen in North York but the theft had not been reported to the police.

Clarence Doolittle, an employee, gave an excellent description of the bandits. "At one o'clock I was walking from No. 1 factory to No. 3 when I noticed the men get out of the green car. When they saw me they pretended to be straightening the rear license plate. I didn't think anything more about them until I heard of the robbery," related Mr. Doolittle.

Stoddart remarked later that the thieves had chosen the wrong Friday. "A number of the employees are paid twice a month; next week's payroll would have amounted to about $10,000," he said.

"I didn't have time to be frightened; it all happened so quickly," said Miss Neilly.

At 5.30 Joe Bennett, Islington, who is helping on the farm of Jim McMorrin, Snowball, for the winter months, phoned provincial police in Aurora that he had driven two men to Toronto answering the description of the two bandits.

"Driving home from Toronto I started putting everything together that had happened during the afternoon and it all seemed queer," he said. "My truck was (Page 6, Col. 7)

Truck Stolen From Ridges

Disappearance of a 1950 Mercury pick-up truck, $35 and 17 gallons of gasoline from the Village Bar was discovered by the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. William Hanna early Sunday morning at Oak Ridges.

Except that a tow truck had been moved at the front of the building, the absence of the truck would not have been noticed, they said. Coincidentally the alleged theft, a youthful employee of the garage and service station had left the Hanna apartment taking with him his clothing.

The three young Hanna children left in the charge of the youth during their parents' absence were found asleep alone in the building. Mr. and Mrs. Hanna were visiting friends less than two miles distant, they said, and were available by telephone had he tried to call them. The till was reported rifled and coins in the pin-ball machine were taken. The truck is valued at $1,600. Provincial police investigated.

Teachers At Public School Get Living-cost Increase

The public school teachers' salaries were increased by the Newmarket public school board at a meeting Thursday night.

Although the teachers had asked for a $300 increase for all members of the staff to offset higher living costs, the school board decided on a graduated increase based on each teacher's domestic responsibility. Increases were graduated from $100 up to $300 with the majority at $100 and $150.

Previous to its decision the board was asked to add any increases onto salaries, not as a cost of living bonus. The teachers said that if the increases could be counted with salaries it would add benefits to their superannuation. They said that it should make no difference to the board because salaries could be lowered later if the cost of living went down again. The superannuation for a teacher is based on his average salary over the last 15 years he teaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morton looked up from the dinner table Monday noon in time to see a deer loping along Andrew St. with a collar barking at its heels.

The Morton house is at the corner of Andrew and Lorne Sts. Mrs. Morton said the deer went over the fence and into a small gully filled with overgrowth and disappeared. It was only a few months ago that early morning commuters saw deer in the fields south of Eagle St. just outside town.

Six Saturday Breakins End Long Crime Lull

Lay 4 Charges In Mail Theft

Four charges involving thefts have been laid by post office department officials against David Couch, 19. An employee at the Newmarket post office for some time, Couch was arrested last week by Newmarket police when the charges were laid for stealing postal letters containing money and cheques.

Last Friday Couch was remanded one week in the magistrate's court, Newmarket. He is on $2,000 bail.

Six break-ins kept Newmarket police busy over the weekend. Thieves entered six homes, five of them on the west side of town and took cash and jewellery while the occupants were downtown or away visiting. The last two weekends have brought a crime wave to Newmarket and Aurora after several months of quiet.

The previous weekend Tom Birrell's garage was entered and three radios were stolen. Provincial police chased the thieves to Thornhill but were not able to take them. An employee of the Newmarket post office was arrested last week by Newmarket police. Four charges involving theft from the post office have been laid against him by the department. On Friday, hold-up men took the $7,000 Sisman Shoe Co. payroll in Aurora.

On Saturday, between 3 p.m. and 1.30 a.m. the six break-ins took place. Several break-ins were also discovered in Aurora. Police in Newmarket received the first call on Saturday night at 9 o'clock, from Mrs. A. D. Spicer, 101 Andrew St. She said they had been at a movie during the evening and came home to find that someone had ransacked their house. Nothing had been taken except an empty purse which was found outside the house.

At 9.40 a call was made to police by Mrs. Bob Redhead, 100 Park Ave. Thieves had forced a window open on the north side of the house. They made a thorough search of the house and stole $40 in cash. Mrs. Beatrice Brown, who lives upstairs in the same house, also reported a similar break-in.

At 10.25 it was reported that five $10 bills and $50 worth of silver had been stolen from the home of Robert Bunn, 90 Park Ave. While investigating, Constable Wm. Hill inspected other homes in the Park Ave. district and found the residence of Mrs. Dr. A. Webb, 85 Park Ave., had been entered. A pearl ring and some cash had been stolen. At 1.10 a.m. Sunday morning a call was received from Charles Fegg, 15 Arthur St. Entrance hall been gained through the cellar window on the east side of his house. The house had been completely ransacked, as in every case reported to the police, and $10 in cash had been stolen. They had been away from their home from 3 p.m. Saturday until 1 a.m. Sunday.

Police believe that the thefts were made by persons who had previous experience. A systematic search had been made of every house entered. Constable Ralph Fear, York county fingerprint expert, found that no prints had been left. The persons had evidently worn gloves. The thefts are being investigated by Deputy Chief Constable Jas. Leeder, Constables Wm. Hill and Arnold Leeder.

Same Thieves Enter Aurora Homes

For the second time in two days thieves visited Aurora Saturday night. They successfully broke into two homes while the occupants were absent, stealing only household articles from both residences. They are the same persons who broke into Newmarket homes, police believe.

Charles Dodson, Connaught Ave., said that when he and his wife returned after spending the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Harrison, they found the side door open, also a back bedroom window.

"The house was a shambles," said Mr. Dodson, "Every drawer and closet had been turned out and the contents strewn all over the house."

The thieves were evidently disturbed before they had a chance to take the kitchen radio and some other articles they had piled ready to remove from the house.

The storm window at the back had been pried off with a spade, and the lower sash of the inside window jammed to break the latch. The foot prints in the snow and mud indicated that the same thieves had broken into the home of W. Cole. In this case a ladder was used to reach a second storey window and the same method of entry made as at the Dodson home. Only a small amount of cutlery was reported missing by Mr. Cole.

WITH THE ADVANCE PARTY

Vet. Flies Home From Korean War Zone

Back from Korea for a visit with his family at Zephyr, Tpr. Roy Taylor of the First Second Canadian Armored Regiment looks back on a lot of travelling experiences lately.

A member of the advance water party, Roy Taylor helped to set up camps and headquarters in Korea for the Princess Pats and did a bit of police work at Pusan. He was part of the advance party for the 54th Transport.

A second war veteran, he first joined the Canadian army in 1942, serving for three years, two years overseas including a year in the occupation army. After the war he and his wife were the first to apply at the new V.L.A. office in Newmarket for a veteran's plan to buy a farm near Queensville.

In August 1950, Taylor joined the special force which was formed for Korea fighting. With the advance water party, he left Camp Borden, stopped for a week at Fort Lewis, Washington and sailed immediately for Pusan.

"It's not a very nice place to be, over in Korea," said Tpr. Taylor. "I can't tell you what we really did over there except that we set up camps and did a little police work. I wouldn't want to be in Pusan for very long." He said that people at home could never realize the plight of the children in that city, let alone other parts of the country.

Tpr. Taylor arrived home a week ago Saturday for a visit with his wife and two children Michael, 3½, and Richard, 1 last September. He had left Korea by ship on December 27 and sailed to Japan. From Tokyo he flew by the airlift in an R.C.A.F. North Star to Tacoma, Washington, then from Tacoma to Malton airport with the R.C.A.F.

"The airlift crews were changed when we made stops at Wake Island and Honolulu. Those fellows are good pilots. All of them were veterans of the second war," he said.

"So far I have been five months in the special force. After my leave is up, I expect to go back to Fort Lewis. I don't know how long I will be staying there," he said.

Mrs. Taylor, her mother, and the two children live at Zephyr on the north outskirts of the village. "We would like to move to Newmarket," Mrs. Taylor said. If we could find a house or apartment with a reasonable enough rent for us, we would come in to town."

Tpr. Roy Taylor, Zephyr, has been home on leave after a stint in Korea with the advance water party, Canadian forces who prepared camps for the larger contingent of Princess Pats. A veteran of the second war, he joined the special force in August, went to Pusan from Camp Borden. He is shown at home last week with his younger son, Richard, age one. Era-Express photo.

Hits Overhanging Tree, Buckles

An overhanging limb of a tree on Millard Ave. caught the corner of the van of a truck on Friday. The tree limb was bruised but the truck's chassis was cracked in the centre. The accident occurred east of Church St. on the south side of the road.

It was a freak sort of accident. The truck, owned by Caplan Radio in Toronto, was travelling slowly along Millard Ave. preparatory to making a delivery when it struck the tree. The truck has a high body and the bough of the tree caught the upper front right-hand corner of the body behind the cab.

The momentum of the truck was enough to jam the body forward, the bough acting as a lever to raise the front wheels of the truck off the road. The weight of the front end of the truck cracked the frame right behind the cab and the front wheels dropped to the road so that the truck was in the position of an inverted 'V'.

The tree is within a foot of the side of the road and the bough which caused all the trouble begins to project across the road from about four feet up the trunk. Residents say it has long been a hazard to motorists. Driver Ronald Thorne and helper Laurence MacNeil were unhurt. The tree was still there this morning.

Council, Hydro Discuss Rifts Between Staff

George Baldwin, chairman of the Aurora hydro commission, and Dr. Crawford Rose met with council Monday night to iron out personnel difficulties. Last week the town and hydro had accepted the resignation of Wm. Large, assistant town clerk and secretary treasurer of the hydro commission.

Mayor Alex Bell said it was the feeling of council that the duties of the assistant clerk, who is also automatically secretary treasurer of the hydro, should be clearly defined, especially regarding from whom he should take orders.

Dr. Rose explained that it had been the accepted practice since the hydro was formed five years (Page 6, Col. 6)

AURORA HIGH SCHOOL
"It never rains but it pours!"
Not only were the junior and senior girls' basketball teams beaten at Newmarket on Thursday but the senior and junior A boys were defeated at Richmond Hill on Wednesday. The junior B's upheld Aurora high by beating the Richmond Hill team.

Many boys were chased, caught and escorted to the Sadie Hawkins dance on Friday, Jan. 19, by the Aurora high girls. The dance brought out an exceptionally large crowd from the lower forms but both young and old enjoyed the square dancing.

The mixed and girls' glee clubs are busily training for their parts in this year's Kiwanis festival in Toronto.—Shirley Liveridge.

Dear Cris:

I am badly in need of your help. For the past two years I have been working. I have accumulated a small savings account, and now I feel that I am ready to marry. Although I am earning $25 a week, my parents feel that 18 is too young to marry. I met my wife-to-be about six months ago, and we both feel that we can live on my income. I would greatly appreciate any advice that you can offer.

Keswick News

The annual meetings of Keswick charge of the United church of Canada were held in Keswick and Ravenshoe churches on January 15 and 17. Following congregational suppers, reports were received which showed the splendid loyalty and fine service given by these congregations during the past year. The total giving for the charge amounted to $7,550. Especially gratifying was the missionary response. The M. and M. allocation of $500 was paid in full. The three W.M.S. groups raised $408, going over their allocations, also packing and sending bales valued at over $400. The Sunday-schools also showed an increase in giving and interest. Superintendents for 1951 are Mr. Perry Winch, Sr., Keswick, and Mr. Merton Rutledge, Ravenshoe; W.M.S. presidents, Keswick, Mrs. F. Marritt and Mrs. Ken Boothby, Ravenshoe, Mrs. W. A. King.

The two Women's Associations have raised a total of $1,678 besides their fine helpful service to the churches in social leadership and community welfare. Keswick president is Mrs. F. A. Morton, Ravenshoe, Mrs. Stan Armstrong. The stewards have received splendid support during the past year both in regular Sunday giving and also in a special canvas made during the year. This has made their task a pleasant one. They would like the congregation to make full use of their envelopes so that no special canvassing would be necessary in 1951.

The session reported 17 baptisms, eight weddings and eight funerals during the year. Three members were added on confession of faith, 14 by letter. The total membership is now 316, Keswick 263, Ravenshoe 53. Mr. Joel Hopkins was elected elder and Messrs. Robt. Davidson, O. Peters and Francis Morton added to the committee of stewards for Keswick. Murray MacMillan is steward for Ravenshoe. Mr. Erwin Winch was re-elected congregational secretary for Keswick. Other committee members were named to carry on the various routine work of the churches.

Each church and every organization closed the year with current expenses all paid. Keswick congregation still owes $1,100 on the new $5,000 organ purchased three years ago. At a former meeting of the official board, the minister's salary was set at $2,400 in line with the recommendations of general council.

Rev. Campbell spoke in appreciation of the fine co-operation given by all during the past year and expressed the hope that 1951 may be a year of spiritual blessing. Mrs. Erwin Winch moved a vote of thanks, expressing appreciation of the minister's services. This was warmly applauded. The congregation secretary was asked to send a letter of appreciation to Mrs. J. E. Buines for her long years of service as convener of the communion table committee. A short memorial service was conducted in memory of those who had been called to higher service during the year. Meetings adjourned and closed with prayer by Mr. Campbell.

CANADIAN
ABROAD
by V. C. PORTEOUS ★ Director
ONTARIO
PLOWMEN'S ASSOCIATION

This is the first of a series of weekly stories which Victor C. Porteous, Owen Sound, a director of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, who as their coach-manager, will write about the visit of Canada's champion plowmen to the British Isles, Belgium, Denmark and the Netherlands.

On board the Queen Mary: We are now on our way across the Atlantic. We left the dock in New York about 3.30 a.m. and it is now mid-afternoon. The big ship is rolling a little but not too much and I think we will prove seaworthy. I hope so, for none of us has been to sea before.

By us I mean Hugh Leslie, Georgetown, and Herbert Jarvis, Agincourt, the 1950 Canadian champion plowmen, and myself. We are heading for the other side to take part in plowing matches in the British Isles and to observe agricultural conditions and visit historical places there and in Holland, Belgium and Denmark.

We are the fifth in as many years to have been awarded all-expense-paid overseas trips by Imperial Oil as a result of winning the Esso Champions Trans-Atlantic horse and tractor classes at the International Plowing Match. The boys won their trips in competition with county and district champions and I was appointed team manager by the Ontario Plowmen's Association who sponsor the big annual event. Besides looking after the boys one of my jobs is to write a series of letters describing our experiences abroad—what we see, what we do and sometimes what we hear. I hope they will prove interesting to you.

But to get this series of letters properly under way I'll introduce the two champion plowmen and myself.

By coincidence both of the boys are 28 years old but Herbert Jarvis, the gold medal horse plowman, is really the younger. His birthday was January 3, the day we left Toronto for New York. (Nice birthday present, eh?) Herb is the son of John Jarvis and is the second youngest of the "seven plowing Jarvis brothers", Willis, Donald, Russell, Richard, Norman, Herbert and Leonard—in that order. The boys were given that title when all of them competed at the East York plowing match in 1947. Norman won that year but Herb has since won the county championship two years in a row.

It might interest you to know that while Herb is an out-and-out horse plowman he works in a plant turning out tractors. But on weekends Herb plows with a horse on his father's 100-acre farm. His wife is a Timbers, a member of a family that includes many champion plowmen, and they have twin daughters, Linda and Donna, who will be three years old next May.

Hugh Leslie, the gold medal tractor plowman, hails from Georgetown and is an old hand at tractor plowing. He has been behind the wheel of a tractor since he was able to climb into the driver's seat and he has competed at county and international matches since they were resumed after the war. Last year he was Peel county champion in the open sod tractor class.

Hugh and his father, George H. Leslie, work a 400-acre farm and of course it is highly mechanized. He is a married man and the father of a four-year-old daughter, Lynda Ann.

As for me, I'm a farmer from away back and my Grey Maples farm near Owen Sound has been in the family for over 100 years.

My son is now operating it and I'm a sort of silent partner. I have always been interested in organizations that are aimed at improving agricultural conditions and I've taken an active part in nearly all farm organizations in North Grey.

Well, so much for all of us. I had better get back to describing our trip or you'll think we never got off. The day of our departure was a busy one, what with radio broadcasts, press interviews, photographers and the official luncheon. I was glad that Col. Tom Kennedy, the Ontario minister of agriculture, was able to drop in for it wouldn't have seemed right not to have him there to wish us luck.

But before we knew it it was time to be at Toronto's Union Station. Our departure was quite in accord with all the other events of the day and I must say that the spirit of those friends who saw us off was not dampened, in the least by the inclement weather. Platform tickets did not seem to be necessary for I heard a good many of our friends tell the man at the gate they had reservations on the New York train. I think I heard at least five say they had lower berth six on car 36, but of course they were not on the train when it pulled out.

We had no trouble whatever with the inspection at the border as the customs officers were aboard when we left Toronto. Inspection was carried out systematically and completed by the time we entered the United States. Our train trip was quite uneventful except for the fact that we were about one-and-a-half hours late arriving in New York.

It was 11 a.m. when we got into our rooms at the Biltmore Hotel. By the time we contacted Peter Kinnear of Standard Oil, New Jersey, it was almost noon and he invited us to have lunch with him and a group of his associates. Mr. Kinnear is a former Ontario boy, having been raised in Cayuga.

We were taken to the Luncheon Club in the Rainbow Room of the R.C.A. Building, Rockefeller Centre. This is on the 65th floor, about 800' above ground level. After lunch we were shown New York from the top of the same building. It was quite a sight.

Later we visited some of the offices in the same building, where one of the radio networks recorded an interview with Herb and Hugh for use the next day on a farm broadcast. We also had some photographs taken with "Dagmar", a well known television artist. Naturally this was enjoyed by all—even myself.

In the evening we had dinner, a smorgasbord, at a Swedish restaurant. There was everything you could think of to eat, and plenty of it. Later we toured sections of Greater New York including Wall Street, Brooklyn and the wharves. We certainly enjoyed every minute of it. All too soon it was 11 p.m. and time to board the Queen Mary. We regretted having to bid our new friends goodbye.

Once on board the Queen Mary we stayed up and watched its progress out of the harbor. At 4 a.m. we passed the Statue of Liberty. By five we were pretty well out of sight of land so we waved goodbye to North America and made for bed.

In my next letter I'll tell you more about life aboard this giant ship and of our first days in England.

Awaiting a ruling from the Ontario milk board on a test case is Bob von Pils, Pickering, shown with one of his herd of 100 Jersey dairy cattle. He is director of the co-operative which trucks the milk produce of 20 farms to Toronto, and which wishes to include four more farms in the co-operative. The milk board, reserving the right to forbid farmers to change truckers, may have to rule against the co-op.

School Section Reforestation Setting Up Planning Board On King Township Agenda

The establishment of a planning board for King township is under the consideration of the council. Reeve Elton Armstrong says that every effort is being made to bring it about as soon as possible.

King township already has a building restriction by-law. The establishment of a planning board would work with this by-law.

The establishment of the board would mean a more orderly development of sub-divisions, and give the township greater control over their situation. "At present, land has been opened up and houses built on lots in parts of the township where such an undertaking has proven most unsatisfactory," said Mr. Armstrong.

The planning board would regulate the choice of sites. "People have bought property in the dry season which seemed perfectly acceptable, only to find that it has poor drainage and is constantly wet in damp weather," he said. "And where the cost of roads and other services are correspondingly higher."

Another function of the planning board would be to exercise greater control over the manner of parcelling larger properties. Too frequently, when a large parcel of land is broken up, the description of the lots is inadequate. "We have received complaints from the registry office that the descriptions were unsatisfactory, and owners too have found that their deed was questioned as to accuracy when they attempted to raise additional funds on it," said Mr. Armstrong.

In general, the planning board will regulate the choice of sites for sub-divisions, and pass on the manner in which the property is divided.

Another project on the agenda of the council is the establishment of a reforestation committee for the township. In its general outline, it is intended to bring reforestation down to the school section level. The plan calls for a committee in each school section which would report on land which could be reforested.

The township committee would then provide trees, transportation and men as needed for the planting. The cost of the project would be kept on the school section level although there is a possibility of provincial or township assistance.

"If only one acre in each of the township's school sections were planted a year, that is 26 acres, a good start," said Mr. Armstrong.

"Maybe folks should look at security this way"

It seems to me that keeping yourself when you get up in years is something like keeping up a car.

You can't run a car on just gas. It's got to have plenty of oil and grease too. And I figure the same idea works with me and the money I'll need someday.

Suppose I get paid some kind of old-age benefit, the same as everybody else. I'll be mighty glad to get that money. But I'm going to want more money coming in. And that's just what I'm saving for now with my life insurance.

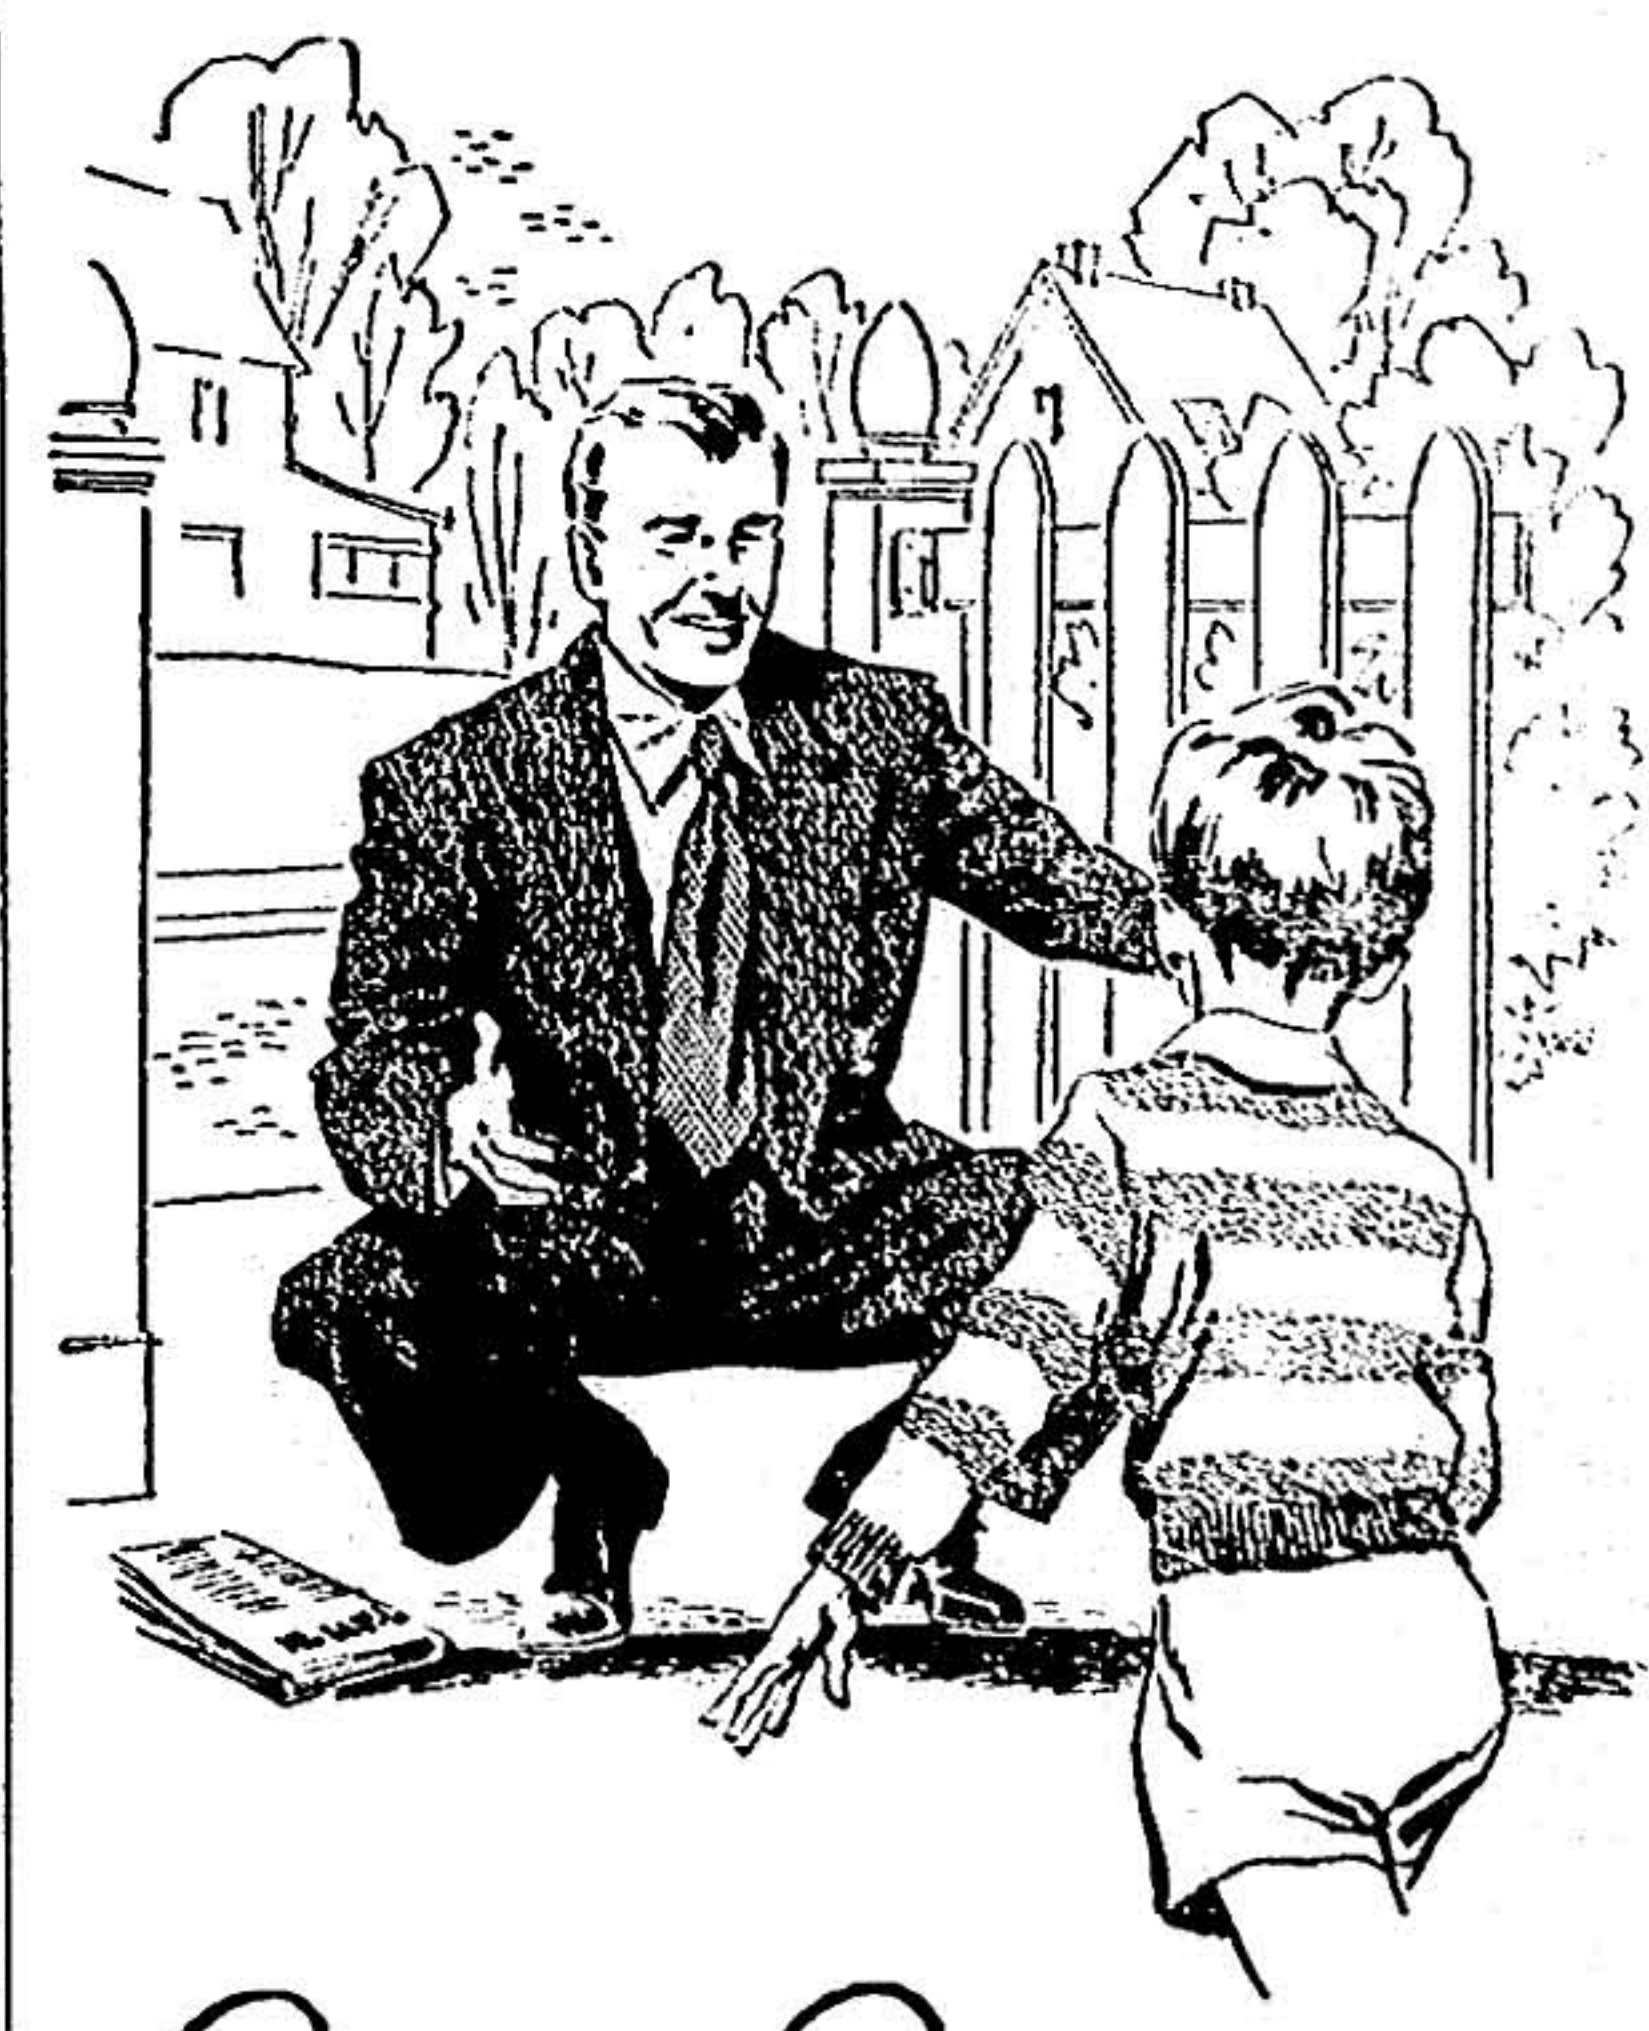

Even then I won't be living the life of Reilly. But at least I'll have most of the comforts I want. And right now it's mighty good to know that if anything happens to me, my life insurance will take care of my family.

Anyhow, don't you think a man should help provide for his own security? I do. And millions of other Canadians are doing it now—with their own life insurance.

Planned Saving
paid off for the Browns

The neighbors remember how sick young Donny was a few months ago, and how worried the Browns were. But they never guessed what a serious drain his illness had been on the family purse.

Wisely, the Browns had made it a rule to put something into their savings account, week by week, almost from the day they were married. So when they consulted their bank manager, their credit was good. With the help of a small bank loan, they were able to pay all their bills promptly. Now Donny is healthy again—and so is their bank account.

Planned saving pays off, when bargains, opportunities or emergencies come along.

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

After our ill-starred expedition to Tobermory in the search of bass last summer, we have given no thought to fish or fishing except for a consideration of "bobbing" for mud cats. However, we are somewhat intrigued by intense advocacy of fishing for carp in a recent bulletin from the department of lands and forests.

We doubt if the average angler gives much thought to carp. They are not a pleasant fish although the Chinese seem to make a lot out of them, in China, that is, where they have a considerable standing as members of society.

Even the department of lands and forests, for all its enthusiasm for carp, doesn't say what can be done with the catch. However, here is the bulletin for what its worth to the anglers:

Carp fishing, on light tackle, can be an exciting pastime which sportsmen's groups and individual anglers would do well to include in their plans for the 1951 season, says the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

At least two Southern Ontario clubs, at Brantford and Port Perry, have done such a good job in getting members interested in angling for the fish that each spring they hold "derbies" in which prizes are given for the most carp and the largest taken.

The membership of these groups is to be highly commended on this voluntary conservation activity for it assists the department greatly in ridding waters of the carp, which, because of their feeding habits, destroy the eggs and spawning grounds of more desirable species," said Dr. W. J. K. Harkness, chief, division of fish and wildlife.

"The holding of carp fishing contests has also stimulated interest among young members of the associations in this desirable field of activity."

The Port Perry group report that they have held derbies for the past three years at Lake Scugog on weekends between

May 24 and June 10 when the carp are spawning. During this time the contestants have taken out a lot of carp. At last year's meets alone at least 200 of the coarse fish are caught, club officials say. Actually, the potential destruction of carp would be much greater than this figure because there are about 80,000 carp eggs to a quart although not all of these would, by any means, hatch out.

Those who have fished carp say that some of them — and they grow big — "will battle like a muskie" if they are taken on a casting rod and light line. "Even a four pounder," writes one carp-fishing addict, "can battle for 20 minutes and still have lots of pep left."

For those who would like to take up this carp-angling sport, and thereby help out the game fish, one of the Port Perry group passes along the following technique:

"Use a casting rod and reel; a line of 14 to 20 pound test and a number four or number six hook with a single gut. A double-gutted hook allows the carp to feel that it has something in its mouth other than food and it will usually spit it out."

"Fish on the bottom. When the carp takes hold of the bait allow it to run well as one would do in minnow fishing for pike. This allows the carp to swallow the bait, then, as the hook is set the battle is on... believe me they can really put up a fight. Bait, this same angler explains, is a mixture of corn-meal, corn-syrup and flour."

"First put one cup of water in a basin, a cup of corn-syrup or sugar, cook until the mixture is a stiff paste. Allow it to cool until it can be handled, then place it on a mixing board, or table, and work in flour until it becomes a very stiff paste."

"When ready to fish take off a piece that, when rolled into a ball, will cover the hook. This will stay on the hook for some time. A sinker at the end of the line is optional."

KING BLAZES NEW TRAIL

King township council is considering a project which may give substantial leadership in the field of reforestation and conservation.

Briefly, the plan is to establish a township committee on reforestation, and working with that committee, a committee or representative in each school section. The latter would report to the township committee on any land in the school sections which might be planted. The township committee would pass on each recommendation and look after supplying trees, men and transportation as required.

The cost would be charged on the level of the school sections but there is always the possibility of provincial or township assistance.

The project, as near as can be ascertained, is without precedent, reforestation and conservation having always been considered matters for a larger administrative unit like a county, or groups of municipalities organized into conservation authorities. Frequently, however, the larger groups prove unwieldy and they have the disadvantage of being further away from the people. The King project overcomes both of these objections by being built on the level of administration closest to the rural people.

Another advantage possessed by the King plan is that it is self-contained and always within the immediate control of the township. The advantages of local interest and efficiency which accrue are immediately obvious. Most important, if the King plan is followed through, the township will have given lead towards the solution of a problem which is becoming increasingly dangerous to the welfare of this part of the county.

NOT SO SECURE AS BELIEVED

The people of Newmarket and Aurora have generally believed that the location of their respective towns gave them a certain amount of immunity from major criminal activity. Aurora is a provincial police centre and the roads radiating from it are easily blocked. In Newmarket, businessmen have taken a wry satisfaction in the conviction that no robber would ever attempt a job in Newmarket for fear he would be caught in a traffic jam while trying to escape.

But that sense of security was rudely shattered in both towns last weekend. In Aurora, the payroll was stolen in a daytime robbery, the recklessness of which suggests that the robbers were more foolhardy than daring. Saturday night, both towns were visited by thieves of more subtlety. In Aurora two homes were entered and in Newmarket, six homes were ransacked.

There have been in both centres a certain amount of petty thieving. Cars have been stolen and there has been the odd break-in, but none of it was sufficient to disturb the even tenor of the local habits. The most recent excitement in Newmarket was three or four years ago when police were given a "tip" that a notorious bank robbing gang were going to make an attempt against one of the two Newmarket banks. Nothing came of that, however, and everyone was convinced that the bandits, if indeed they had considered Newmarket, had given it up as a too difficult task.

This past weekend, though, has given us all a rude jolt.

EVERYTHING BUT . . .

The Hope report on education is a highly controversial document. But the Fort Erie Times-Review finds cause to question, not what is contained in the report, but what was left out. The report lists nine objectives towards which any educational system should be aimed, says the Times-Review, "Not included is the development of scholastic ability; or, in simple terms, getting good marks".

The Times-Review continues: "Nowadays, it appears, the school teacher must be less a person who can pass on his own academic knowledge to others, and more of a psychologist who can spot a neurosis in the incubation stage. Those pictures of outstanding scholars, showing boys and girls who made 19 firsts out of 20 papers written, should really inspire pity, rather than admiration. The subject of such a picture may be clever—that point is not under dispute—but the poor kid is also hopelessly maladjusted. Spent so much time during classes listening to the teacher that he never found out how to get along with people."

"In this age of enlightenment it is amusing to reflect how people once went to school solely to do schoolwork. Even the approach of adolescence failed to remove them from the sociological rut—they simply progressed from arithmetic to algebra. And at the end, all they could boast was knowing enough to come in out of the rain because the rate of absorption of moisture by their clothing was equal to the coefficient of saturation of wool multiplied by pi.

"But the new system is going to change all that. Tomorrow's fully educated child, a beautifully balanced personality, will put his 'power to think clearly, independently and courageously,' as the Hope Report says, to good use. He'll come in out of the rain because it's wet and rather unpleasant.

PLANNING BOARD COULD HELP

It was reported in The Era and Express last week that building permits for construction totalling almost half a million dollars were issued in Newmarket last year. Evidence of the growth this represents is found all around the perimeter of the town. And there is every reason to believe Newmarket will continue to grow for some years yet.

This growth, while bringing advantages, imposes upon the town problems that have yet to be met. There is, for example, adequate water at present but the town engineer warned a few weeks ago that unless something was done to conserve water resources, Newmarket would suffer from a water shortage a decade or two hence at the present rate of growth.

Another consideration which must be given attention is the physical lay-out of town. At present, a business section which serves a large rural area as well as a growing town is cramped for the most part into a four-block area south of the Main St. hill. There is no room there for expansion, and as Newmarket grows, the need for business space is going to increase. Either another business section will develop, or business will go elsewhere unless an effort is made now to direct growth into more beneficial channels.

This and other considerations are rightly a matter for a planning board. The council is too concerned with immediate problems to give the time required to the development of a long-range plan for regulating growth. A planning board would also afford some measure of consistency not possible in council. The longer the delay in establishing some means to regulate and direct growth, the greater the problems of the future.

INCREASED COST OF LIVING

The Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville

It is quite possible in the very near future that all of us will be feeling the pinch of higher taxation for the purposes of defence preparations. If the scheme for Old Age Pensions without means test goes through, this will also mean an extra tax to be shelled out probably as a pay deduction and as increase on the things we buy.

The most noticeable taxes are those we pay out directly or in the form of deductions from take-home pay. The latter are noticed because they decrease the amount of the take-home pay and there is less with which to purchase those things we need. But the hidden taxes, or the indirect taxes take a considerable amount from the take-home pay also. Take for instance the large amount of tax on a package of cigarettes or tobacco, the actual cost of the cigarettes is very low, the main part of the total cost to consumer is made up by taxes. On almost every article purchased there is a sum of sales tax and this is charged and collected at the manufacturer's end, but finally passed on to the consumer. The suggestion is to raise this sales tax by about two percent in order to provide at least part of the money to pay old age pensions.

There are a number of people who believe that these government handout schemes are just picked off trees—that is, the money comes from a mysterious source that the government has for such things. That mysterious source is you, my friend—you pay the money in before it can be paid out. You may put it in the form of taxes deducted from your pay envelope or you may pay it in from the hidden taxes on the purchases you make at the stores—but you do pay it. Of course one person does not pay it all, it is divided over everyone in some form or another, some may actually pay more than others according to the deductions and the amount of their purchases.

Perhaps you will believe this is a good system, but when your pay envelope shows a decline in take-home pay, don't blame the high cost of living entirely. The extra being called for will account for some of the increased cost in living.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

The other morning your favorite cat correspondent arose early at the crack of 7.30, fell back exhausted and arose again at 7.40.

"Is there something wrong?" I later asked the milk man at the front door. "There are some people going down the street there, look."

"Oh that's not unusual," he humored me. "Lots of people get up this early. Some of them are even at work."

"No!" said I, completely astounded. "Well, live and learn as they say."

It was a lovely morning really. Activity was at a delightful minimum. The community had not yet worked itself into its daytime state of commercial anxiety as I walked up the main street.

I looked at the sky over the municipal timepiece to admire the clouds. It was then that my eye caught sight of the bird. There on a frayed hydro line, a normal characteristic of our community, was perched what appeared to be a morose looking starling. But no, it was not a starling at all. On closer examination, I discovered that this bird was a weather beaten, moth eaten, harassed and exhausted dove!

In the dove's beak was what appeared to be an old shredded cigar.

"I say old dove," I cried. "Why are you sitting up there chewing an old cigar on such a cold morning as this? It isn't fitting of a bird of your lineage."

"This ain't no cigar," said the dove. "This here is an olive branch. Might be a bit withered up but it's genuine. Came from Italy."

"You've had a pretty long haul then," I said. "What's your game anyway?"

"I," said the dove, "am the spirit of peace. That's what I represent. Here's my card," and the dove dropped an old piece of cardboard on which had been printed, "Win With Wilkie". These letters had been scratched out and in their place, in shaky handwriting, was: "N. A. Dove, Resolutions and Proposals Drafted, Replies Interpreted". In small print at the bottom was "Geneva". But this too was scratched out and the words re-written were: "Times Square, New York, N.Y., 5th North-east Lamp Post".

"I'd say that you were in a pretty shaky business, off hand," said I. "How do you find the trend, these days?"

"I don't know but I feel like the bottom is dropped out of everything," said Dove. "You are talking to a hulk of a dove. My sales territory has shrunk to almost nil and I get a bad reception from half of the good customers I have left."

"I have had a miserable time. My starboard wing is all shot up with shrapnel and one place I went, I got my rudder blown off. Couldn't even land there and this is where I ended up. But I've gotta keep pushing on. I'm due in Washington tonight. There's some fellow there who wants to buy a resolution but I doubt if I can fill his order. But if you ever need me, don't forget to write."

Just then a snow plow came down the street and nearly buried me. When I picked myself up the dove had disappeared.

The morning had been too much for me. The interview with the dove left me weak and uncertain. Main St. was becoming noisily active. Shops were opening and motor cars were roaring. It was too much. I went back home to bed and slept for another two hours.

by "Dairy Farmer" The Top Six Inches

There was a news item the other day in the morning Toronto paper announcing that the provincial government is going to investigate the reason why it costs 84 cents to distribute one bottle of milk, or in other words, what is the reason for the spread between the amount the farmer receives and what the consumer has to pay.

Needless to say, we are very glad to see such a thing. We are firm believers in the old proverb "better late than never". At last, somebody has put the finger on, what in our opinion, is the guilty party in this whole milk question. We knew it all along. It is the housewife.

The present cost of milk in Toronto is not the fault of the producers who give it away; not the fault of the processors who are trying to make a meager living including all the trimmings owing to one who has a half a million invested in a business under our system of economy; and not the fault of the driver who is only trying to get what everybody in the city gets for a 40 hour week. It is the fault of the housewife, the comfort and service ridden housewife, who is apparently willing to pay 10 percent of the value of milk so she can have it placed on her doorstep where she can get it in the morning by merely reaching for it.

Milk is a bulky and perishable commodity, expensive to handle and costly to deliver. And when the delivery is coupled with an attempt to outsell the competing distributor, the whole thing becomes a farce. Yet we do not hear any of the so-called consumer organizations and other ladies' groups protesting against it. They venture to predict that the first dairy in Toronto which will have the courage to say 10 cents cash and carry and 20 cents delivered will run the others out of business.

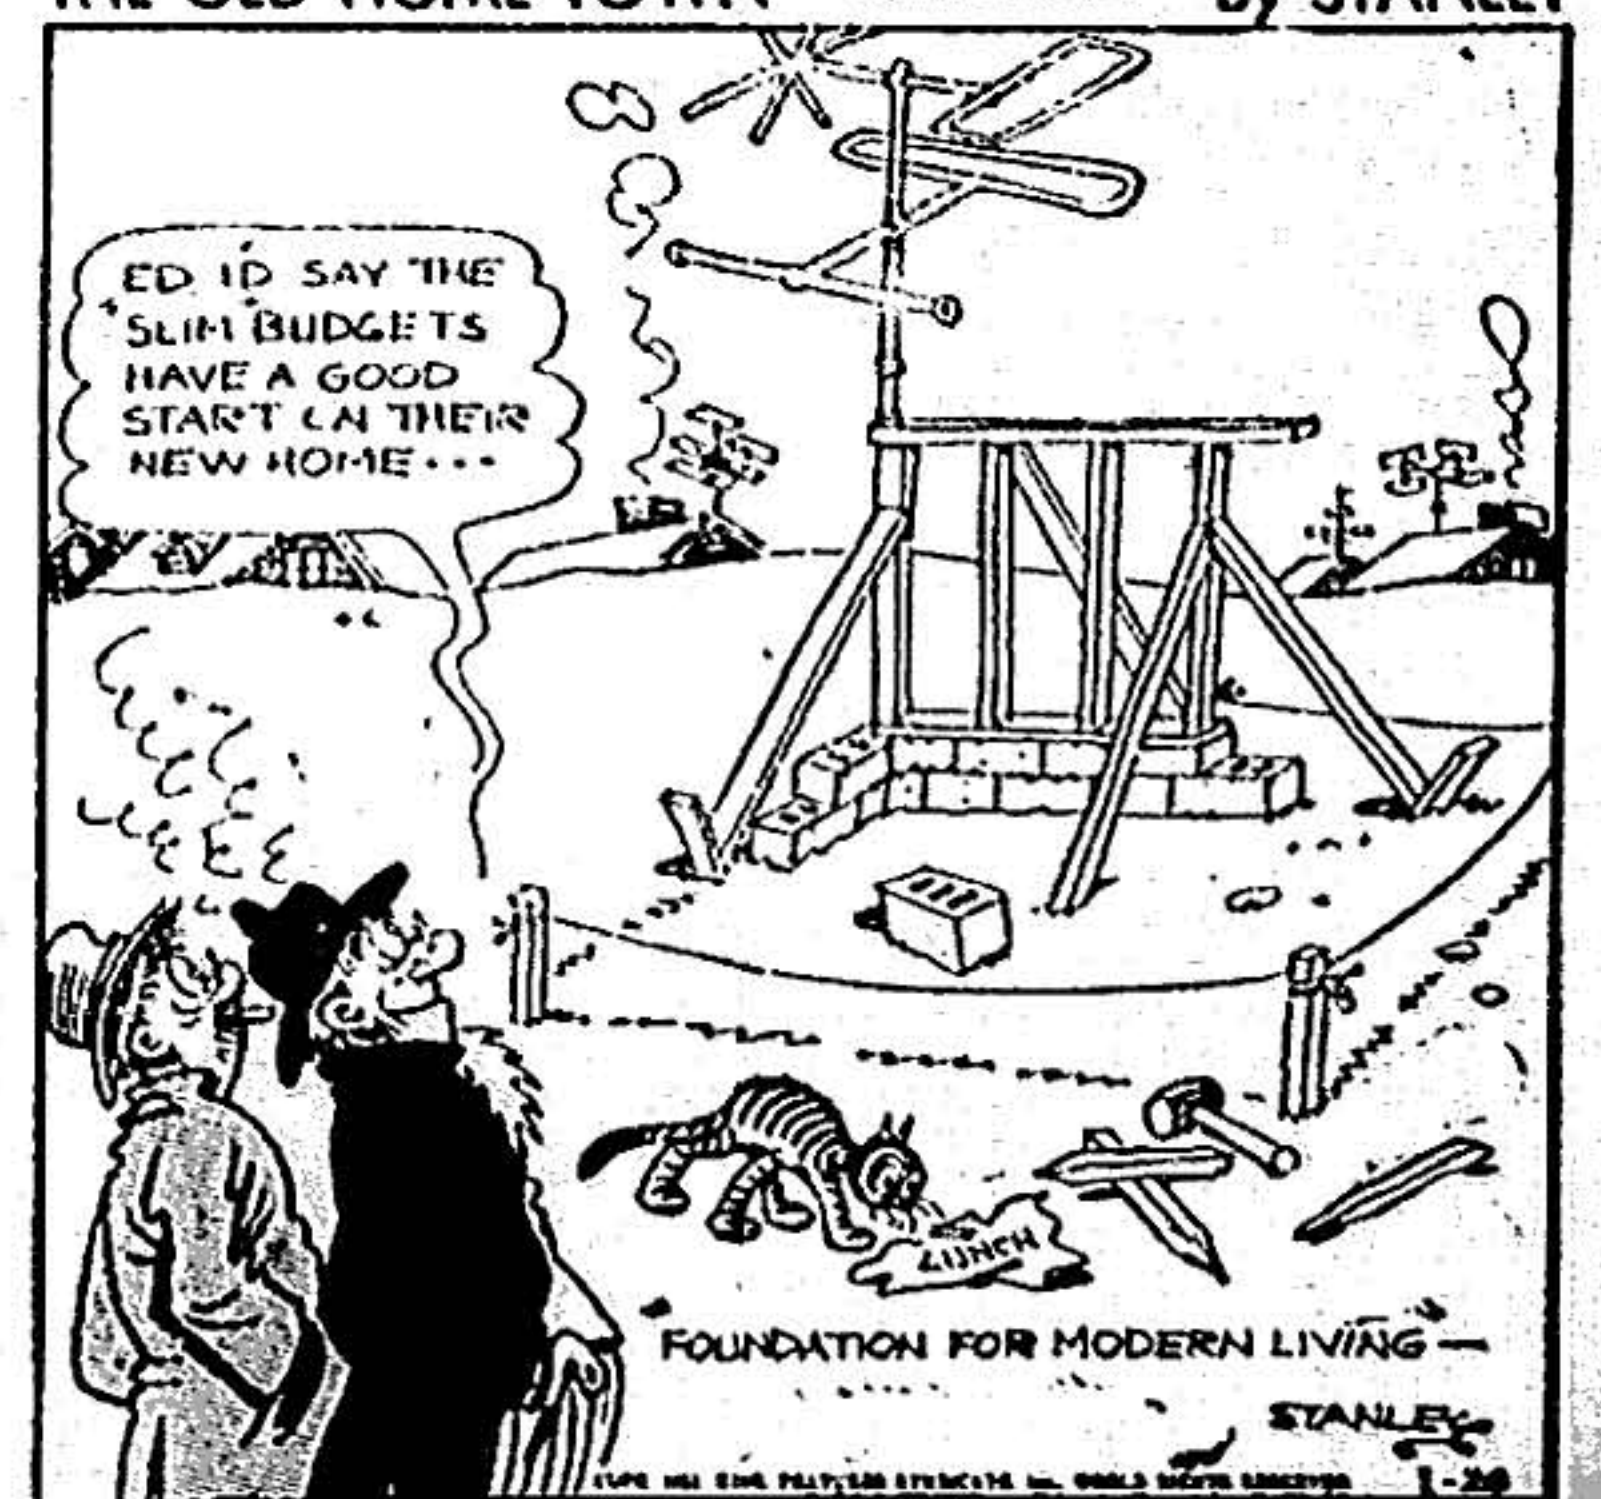

Let's face facts, and let's get away from this sentimental idea of service. There are instances where milk delivery is necessary and justified. But for the most part, it is not so, and as a dairy farmer, we are protesting against it because we are the ones who pay for it—not the city consumer, not the processor who gets his return on his invested money, and certainly not the driver. It is the farmer. This business of an 84 cent spread is always counted from the top down, and we get what's left after everybody is satisfied. Then the distributor turns around and says: "I cannot help it."

We think that small milk depots should be established all over the city to distribute milk—and please let them not develop into candy shops and laundromats and drugstores. Just milk depots. And let these and the other retail food outlets handle milk. Let the dairies ask another cent for delivered milk and put the spread between picked up and delivered milk at three cents. Let them put milk up in paper containers only. If the grocery store feels like delivering it, that's fine. But they wouldn't think of charging 10 percent on the total grocery bill for delivering it.

And then, dear housewife, it will be squarely in your pretty lap. If you are used to comfort and can afford it, have it delivered by all means. Only you pay for it and not us. If you don't think that the constitutional once a day or every other day hurts very much, go and pick it up. And there it will be, nice and cool and fresh, for three cents less. Two trips and your youngster has a free chocolate bar.

Maybe you think we are too hard on you, dear housewife, but would you buy coffee delivered if it were 10 percent more? Or any other thing? You're darned right you wouldn't. But you buy milk because the delivery cost is hidden from you. But if you want cheaper milk, and you should have it if you don't want the service, then ask for it and help us farmers by refusing a silly "free" service which we are paying for.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

An Aurora Opinion

By DOROTHY BARKER

Aurora Editor

Must Aurora put into effect a curfew law to protect the many young children frequently seen on the streets long after a normal bedtime hour, or could a course in parent education control the situation?

Tom Dickson recently told the Aurora recreation commission that he had investigated "Parent Education" with the idea that such a course might help local parents faced with the ever-growing demand on the part of today's children for more and more freedom. How many Aurora parents could be counted on to attend such a course, if and when it is set up?

It has been suggested that the many recreational services of municipalities and the government have made it too easy for parents to neglect their children. It has often been said that movies are used as nurseries by harassed mothers who find Saturday the hardest day in the week to cope with their obstreperous offspring. What a hackneyed statement is the one used to describe the modern child's restlessness, "children have lost the art of play". Have they been dished so much "canned" amusement they no longer are capable of entertaining themselves? And what, if true, has this problem got to do with the suggested course?

It teaches parents to define the difference between constructive recreation and destructive amusement which mainly caters to a child's insatiable appetite for excitement. Further it teaches the definition of discipline and how best to employ a continued pattern throughout the formative years of a child's life. Child psychology sounds like so much mental indigestion to the average parent, yet if more mothers and fathers would take the time to study the problem of understanding their children, there would be fewer women wringing their hands and saying, "I can't do a thing with Johnny, he's such a strong-minded child".

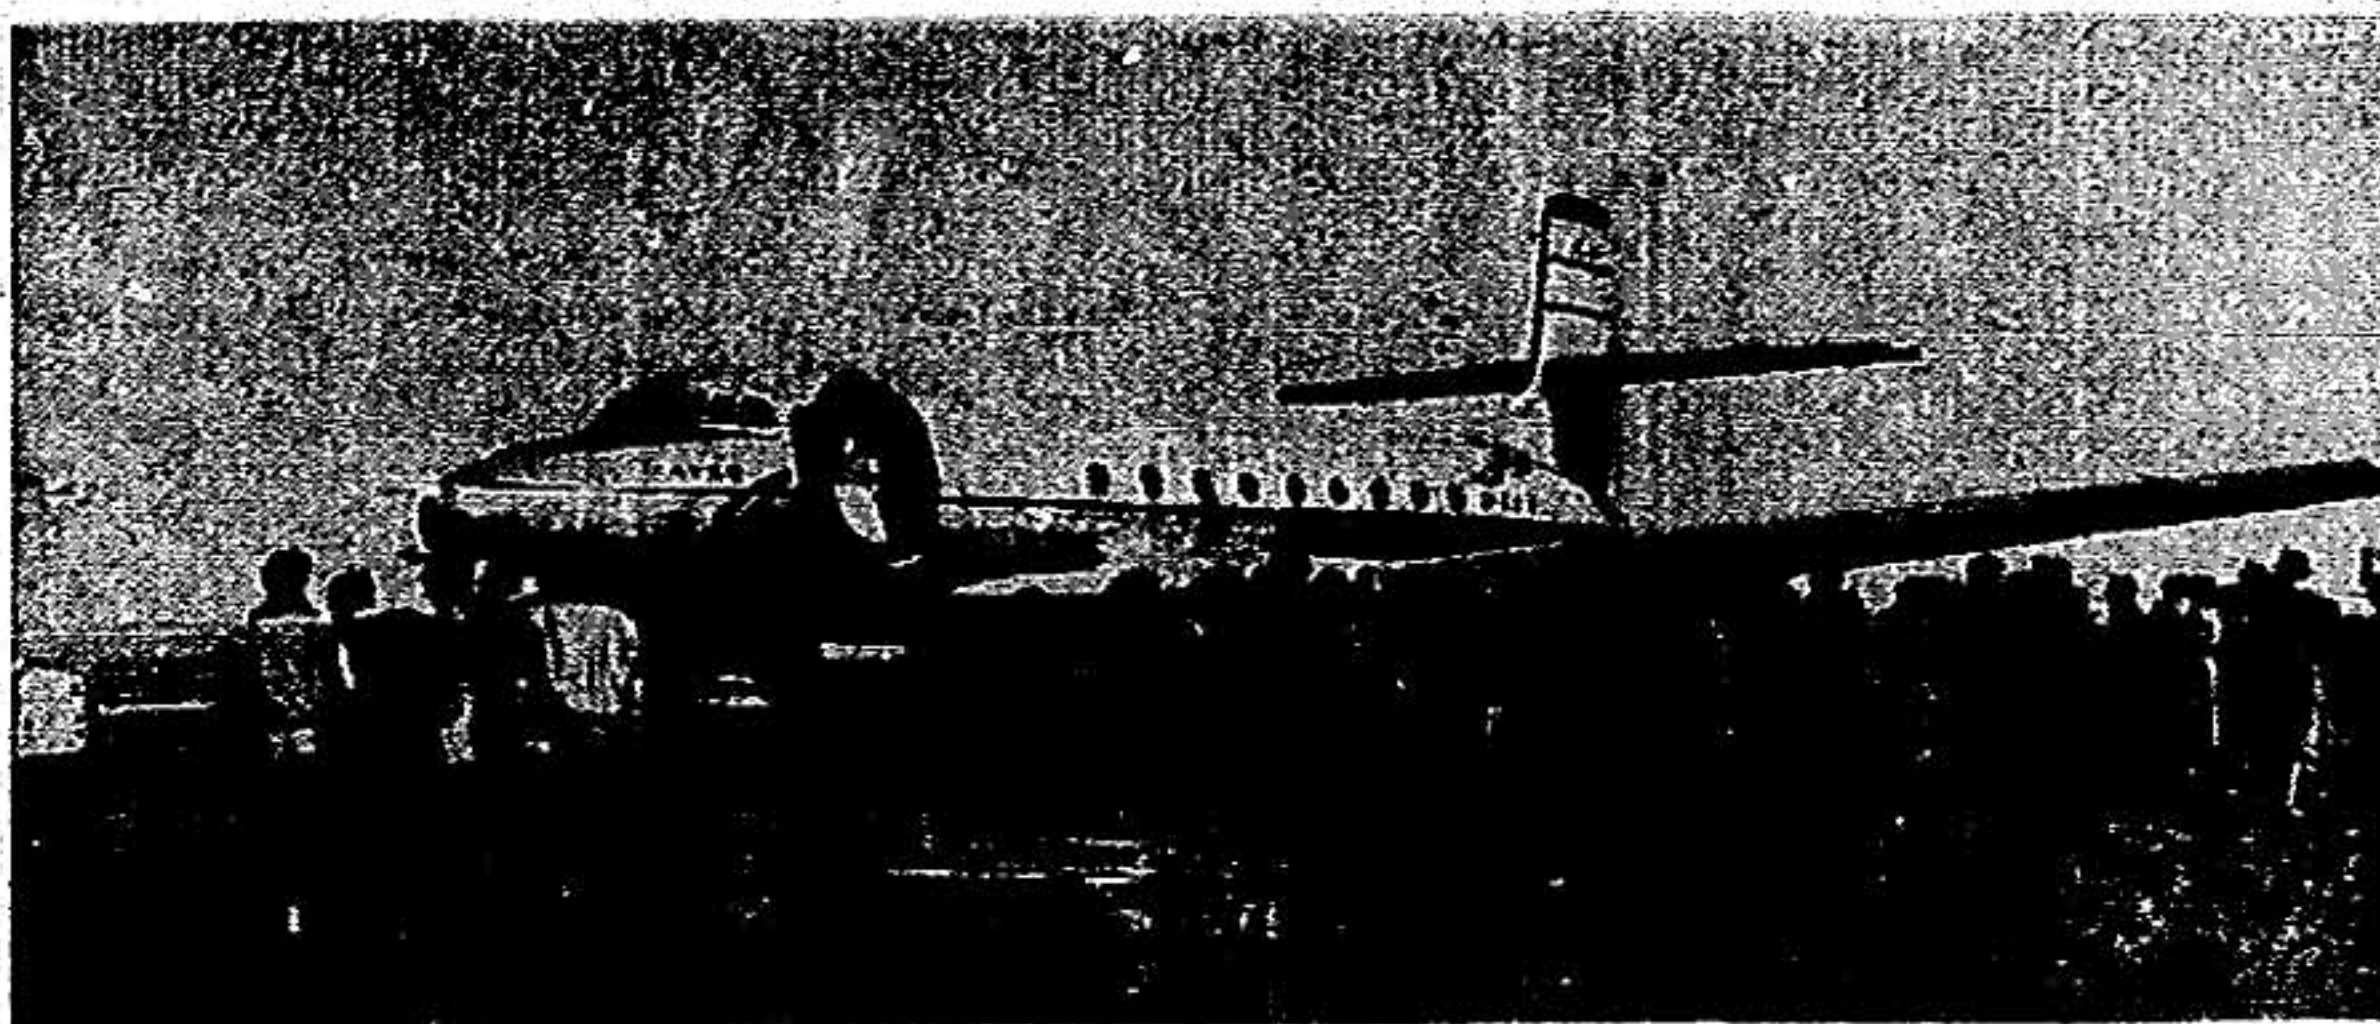

How many parents are aware of the fact suggestive literature can be purchased in Aurora by young people? We all know that lack of parental supervision encourages mischief. We know too how important it is to instill standards of right living in every child before he reaches his teens. Recent reports from Korea of forces whose moral stamina has been found to be woefully lacking, have revealed that a generation brought up on a diet of constant amusement has not been able to face the grim realities of survival.

War and parent education would appear to have no relationship whatever, yet would we be faced with a forecast of decadence on this continent if parents for years had grasped the opportunities of such a course as is proposed for Aurora? All men and women are not born "natural parents", any more than we are all born rich, but just as we can acquire wealth, we can benefit by our opportunities. It is far more amusing to play bridge or bingo than listen to dry lectures on how to handle Johnny, but should Johnny be blamed if he secretly discovers he has ma and pa buffaloed? It is the problems of thousands of parents that have formulated the course of parent education. They have been dealt with and solved to a very great extent. Finally incorporated in most courses of this nature, benefiting every parent wise enough to attend the lectures.

Farm Forum News

The Holt Farm Radio Forum meeting at the home of W. McFarlane on January 8 discussed the need for new markets for farm products. The decision of the forum was that to insure future markets for surplus products, they should be of A1 quality and attractively packaged. The forum also thought it a good idea for farmers to pay for advertising their products. It would bring farmers' products to the public eye and it would have to be the farmer who would pay for it as he is the most interested.

On the question of marketing quality products, discussed by the forum on January 15, the forum suggested that low quality products be processed into by-products like juices. The forum said that the middleman's services were necessary as long as there weren't too many middlemen. The forum also thought the price spread will be difficult to reduce as long as the consumer demands small, packaged foods.

Breaking records is habitual with Canada's jetliner, the only jet commercial transport in North America. Without pressing the plane to its maximum speed the big ship streaked from Chicago to New York in 102 minutes, a record for commercial planes on the 750-mile run. En route it also established a climbing record of 30,000' in 22 minutes. At New York, a crowd gathered to inspect the record breaker.

The King school observes the first Sunday of each month as "Missionary Sunday". The little folk have shown special interest in this date, since the hospital closed them. A primary teacher states the little people questioned her every Sunday if "this is the day for their cot donations". A flannelgraph was purchased this year for use in junior classes and for general worship services.

Mrs. Colin C. Gamble, Newmarket, had a hazardous flight home from their winter home in Miami, Florida, last week. She was coming to Newmarket because of the serious illness of her sister, Miss Gertrude Hartley. She completed the trip by bus.

HELPFUL IN COLD SPRING WEATHER Nitrogen in manure and organic matter is not readily available in the cold weather of early spring. But "Na-Churs" Liquid Fertilizer feeds the plant right from the start! It is a supplemental fertilizer solution used as a starter and booster to encourage earlier emergence and develop a stronger root and top growth in the earlier stages. With the plant having a stronger root system it can then draw the maximum benefit from the plant food in the soil.

"NA-CHURS" WON'T PERFORM MIRACLES Soaking the seed is a method for supplying an initial part of the plant's needs; the remainder can be supplied by normal fertilizers. There is no reason to suppose that a sufficient amount of any particular nutrient element can be introduced into the seed by soaking, but the nutrient so introduced is immediately available and of maximum efficiency.

PROVE IT TO YOURSELF As little as one drum of "Na-Churs" will tell the story. The cost is little if it will increase your yield, it is too good to pass up. Try it — YOU be the judge. See your "Na-Churs" dealer or write today for further information for your crops.

IN MEMORIAM

Blanchard—In loving memory of my dear son, George, who departed this life Jan. 31, 1946. One precious to our hearts has gone. A voice we loved is stilled; The place made vacant in our home. Not forgotten by his brothers nor all his dear old friends. c2w4

Rowe—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Frank Rowe, who passed away Jan. 23, 1950. When evening shades are falling; And we sit in quiet alone. To our hearts there comes a longing. If I could only come home. Friends may think we have forgotten. When at times they see us smile. But they little know the heartache Our smile hides all the while. Sadly missed by wife and family. c1w4

Shenard—In loving memory of our darling baby, Johnston Patrick, who passed away January 21, 1947. COUNCIL - HYDRO RIFTS

ago for the town to employ the clerk and assistant clerk, and for the hydro to sublet a certain portion of their services for which it pays an authorized percentage. Friction between personalities had caused the recent upheaval in the clerk's office and Baldwin said he felt sure it would not occur again. It was decided to carry on the office work of hydro in the clerk's office as in the past, and until such time as the new hydro building is erected. Dr. Rose announced they expect to start work on this project in the spring. c1w4

W. T. Standish whose proposed sub-division on Kennedy Street West has been the cause of much discussion following the last meeting of council, when 27 residents were present to back up a petition, told council he thought the method of objection used by the residents was unfair. "No one contacted me or made any objection to the plan" said Mr. Standish. "The first I knew was a petition being circulated. I have just as much desire for protection as my neighbors. I intend to live in one of the houses I am building, and my greatest wish will be to have a pleasant relationship with the other residents of Kennedy Street." c1w4

Mr. Standish submitted a rough sketch of a revised plan which

Set Up Cellar Classroom For Oak Ridges Overflow S.S. 13 To Pay Fittings Cost

Accommodation will be found for the overflow pupils in Oak Ridges school, it was agreed at a meeting of S.S. 13 and Oak Ridges school boards last night. An extra class will be set up in the basement of the school until the end of the school term, and another teacher will be employed.

A few weeks ago, the Oak Ridges board had told S.S. 13 that it would have to find accommodation for an estimated 45 pupils, that the Oak Ridges school was too crowded to accommodate them. The newly-formed S.S. 13 board had canvassed the entire lake area in an effort to find a hall which could serve as a classroom but without success.

Attempts at getting a portable classroom failed when none could be found available for rent or purchase. The new section is still looking for a site for a school. The earlier choice of the board was rejected by the ratepayers and an arbitration board has not yet given its findings.

The Oak Ridges school has become increasingly overcrowded until in desperation, the board called upon S.S. 13 to take 45 pupils by March 1.

Part of the arrangement for accommodating the overflow in a basement school room include the payment for the fittings and cost of teacher by S.S. 13. Principal John Martin will undertake the re-arrangement of the classrooms as soon as possible. There is already a classroom in the basement of the school, and further evidence of the overcrowding is found in a classroom set up in a hall in the school buildings.

With the disbursement of funds and the closing of books of Oak Ridges Community club, a former local organization, the Lions club, has become possessors of the $100 Edna M. Lowndes Memorial gift to be used for the selection of a trophy or a shield to bear the name of "Edna M. Lowndes", on which will be annually inscribed the name of the most outstanding student of Oak Ridges school attaining entrance to high school. The trophy will remain in the school. The Lions' education committee will choose the student eligible for this honor. Mrs. Lowndes, Toronto, formerly of Oak Ridges, made the donation in memory of her late daughter.

All hockey equipment of the Community club has been turned over to the Lions, sponsors of the local hockey teams.

Success Crowns 50th Year
The W.A. of St. John's church met at the home of Mrs. Giles Kerswill on January 17 when reports of the past year were favorably received, indicating a successful year's work. Three new members were enrolled.

Pledge givings totalled $95, an excess of $10 over the required allocation. The sum of $100 was donated to the church wardens; the Bishop's Emergency Fund received $10 and $30 was raised by thankofferings and used for the training fund for missionaries. The total receipts were substantial with a small balance on hand for immediate needs of the new year. It was agreed that pledges for the coming year will be increased. In addition to mission and parochial work, the branch as well as individual members lend help in community social service work.

Did Washing in Still, Farmer Says, Given Fine

Accused of operating a still, Joseph Sule, Pfefferlaw farmer, pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake at Newmarket court Friday.

Sule, a Hungarian, was represented by counsel who told court that parts of the still had been brought from Hungary when the family came to this country 28 years ago. He also told the court it was Mrs. Sule's practice to boil her wash in the bottom part of the apparatus which accounted for its blackened, well-used appearance.

In passing sentence and confiscating the still, Magistrate Hollinrake said Mrs. Sule would have to find another pot in which to boil the clothes. Sule was fined $225 and costs or three months.

Another man, Joseph Peter of Holland Marsh, also pleaded guilty to having a still. William Kirkwood, R.C.M.P., told Magistrate Hollinrake Peter made the still about a year ago but because there had been other convictions in his neighborhood for operating a still he had never used it. He also told the officer he did not want to get into any trouble.

The still, which was found in the man's garage, was confiscated and the accused fined $100 and costs or 3 months.

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE ION

What place has the married woman in the business or professional world today? The other evening we had a discussion regarding that question which brought to light many phases of the problem which is facing increasing numbers of women yearly. Are they right in going "out to business" in an effort to help balance the family budget?

For many women, there is no choice but to work outside their homes. Through death or desertion they may be the sole supporters of their children, or because illness makes steady employment impossible for the husband, they must assist in earning extra money.

But apart from those groups, statistics show that an increasing number of young women are retaining their business positions after marriage. Mothers of young children are attempting to carry on the full-time job at home with part-time employment in factories, stores or offices. Where will this trend lead?

With the steady rise in the cost of living, it is gradually reaching the place where it is necessary for both husband and wife to work to maintain an adequate standard. Particularly is this so among the low-income groups which include the vast majority of families in Canada. On the husband's salary it is impossible to provide the extras for the children such as music lessons or to purchase the new home which would provide the additional living space so badly needed. Faced with these situations or similar ones, the woman seeks employment outside her home.

How much better off financially is the family when the wife is a wage earner? If a balance sheet was drawn up showing all the additional expense such employment accrued it would surprise many what a price those few extra dollars cost.

No longer will she be able to spend her working hours in a wash dress. Going to business can involve expenses for clothing.

GUESTS FROM BARRIE INITIATE NEW LIONS

Thirty-four members of the Barrie Lions club visited the Newmarket club on Monday night. The visitors provided a rousing program, including an impressive initiation ceremony for 13 new members of the Newmarket club. MRS. TED MITCHELL RETURNED TO OFFICE

Those elected were: pres., Mrs. Ted Mitchell; vice pres., Mrs. M. B. Seldin; sec., Mrs. Lou Bovaird; treas., Mrs. Stewart Beare; librarian, Mrs. Geo. McNelly.

The material which the group purchased for draperies for one of the classrooms at the Prince Charles school was displayed. Pamphlets on "How to Arrange Borders in Weaving" were distributed to the members. This was followed by an interesting discussion of the Bittern draft. Plans for the year's work were tentatively laid with an open meeting being scheduled for the Prince Charles school for Monday, Feb. 2, 8 p.m.

Miss Mary Andrews, who gave the course in weaving in Newmarket in 1947, will be the guest speaker. She will present a film made under her direction of the activities at the Oshawa Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. which include all phases of handicrafts. An invitation is extended to the public to attend this meeting.

SAME THIEVES

At least one resident in Newmarket says that unusual phone calls had been made. One front hall light was on in their residence when two phone calls were made. When the person answered there was only the sound of a receiver set back on the other end of the line. It is a common method housebreakers use to determine whether anyone is home.

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

POSITIVE OR NEGATIVE

There are people, and animals, that we can love, like, dislike, hate, tolerate or ignore. But you can't do that with cats. You either love them or hate them. A cat demands affection and respect. There is always a certain aura of mystery surrounding them.

No matter how much you study them, cater to them and associate with them, there is always something held back. I suppose that ever since they had magnificent temples built to them and were worshipped in Egypt, they have disdained other animals and even look down on the humans who once adored them.

The ancestors of our Beauty were, I am sure, once housed in a temple. Her regal air, disdainful manner and rarely given evidence of affection all point that way. If another cat so much as tastes her food, she walks away; if a poor innocent kitten climbs to her place on Archie's knee, that kitten gets well slapped and Beauty retires to nurse her wrongs in secret and refuses to even look at Archie until she thinks he has something she wants—then she offers a kiss and brushes him lightly with her whiskers—a real sign of affection.

I was reading lately that Abyssinian cats were among the most intelligent in the world—they must be, for they managed to get themselves elected as part of an Abyssinian girl's dowry—not just a part, but a much sought after part.

At present we have a cream colored Persian, about three months old, named Puff. She would be a wonderful asset to any bride if the bride happened to be lonely or had not much to do. Just this minute, hearing a crash, I looked around to see an avalanche of papers, letters, rulers, pencils and what not, descending from the table, while under them Puff and her brother Tiny were happily circulating, adorned with wool from my mending bag.

Cats, all down the 3,600 years in which there have been records of them, have been a subject of speculation. The Moslems reverence cats because Mohammed had a cat of which he was very fond. The Chinese believe that the people who dislike cats were rats in some other incarnation, while the Hindus who believe in the transmigration of souls, believe that if you have behaved like a cat or a snake or a pig in this life, your soul will enter one of these animals for its next incarnation.

Another trick of Beauty's, if I am too busy to feed her the moment she demands it, is to rush madly to the door, as if her life depended on it, and when I go to let her out, she just turns, gives me an impudent stare, as if to say "You poor sap", walks to her plate and sits down, confident that now I have left my work, I'll feel I may as well feed her—and I do!

There is a horrible practice, quite common of dropping unwanted pets on country roads. It is despicable and one knows that the people who do it are wantonly cruel, utterly without decency, but that helps neither the cats nor those on whom they are thrust. Always in the country people have more cats than they want or need. People going through Newmarket, where there is a Humane Society and a police station, and going to Toronto where the Humane Society is a nationally known institution will still drop pets along the way.

There must be a lack of education on kindness to animals in our schools and homes or such practices would never flourish. Some day I'll write a book about cats—they are an inexhaustible subject!

And you have more time there when you go by air! Only a few pleasant hours aboard a comfortable TCA "North Star" Skyliner from Toronto or Montreal—and you're there with lots of time to swim in tropic seas or golf on green fairways! There's A Booklet Called "Personal Planning" I mentioned last week that every "Harried Housewife" should know about! It's a "blueprint" for showing you how to run your money—instead of your money running you! It takes a bit of "doing" on your part—but it certainly seems to be very much worth while in the end. You see, Personal Planning is a new, personal budget planning system designed by the BANK OF MONTREAL to enable you to work out a budget that will really give you control over your money. After you've worked at it for a while, you'll find your money problems really shrinking. You'll find, too, you can enjoy life and still live within your income. Sounds good, doesn't it? Be sure to ask for your copy of PERSONAL PLANNING at your nearest branch of the Bank of Montreal. "MY BANK" says, "There's no obligation, except to yourself!"

When You Set Out The Coffee Cups for an "After Canasta" snack don't forget some coffee cake or muffins to go with it! That's my idea of a treat. And for muffins, or cakes, to make any occasion something special, I make sure Calumet Baking Powder is in the batter. Calumet insures your moist, tender, beautifully risen cakes and muffins. That's because Calumet's double action—first in the mixing bowl, then later in the oven—is a safeguard against interruptions that so often spell "a-i-i-u-r-r-e" for cakes and other baked "goodies." CALUMET BAKING POWDER is one of the surest ways I know to consistent baking success.

There's Something SPECIALLY Exciting about a chocolate cake... particularly when it's flavoured with the rich, rich flavour of BAKER'S UNSWEETENED CHOCOLATE! You see, Baker's is all pure chocolate with nothing added, nothing taken away.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE CAKE

(1 egg)
1 egg, well beaten
2 squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate, melted
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla
sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well; then add chocolate and blend. Add flour, alternating with milk, a little at a time, until all is used. After each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in greased pan, 8 x 8 x 2 inches, in slow oven (325° F.) 1 hour, or until done.

YOUNG HOPEFULS BY DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Sharon's Curiosity Too Strong

Sharon, an unusually obedient little five-year-old, is a victim of demon curiosity.

In Sharon's house there is a room on third floor that makes an excellent place to play on rainy days. There are many interesting dress-up clothes in an old trunk, to which Sharon and her playmates have access. The only stipulation regarding this treasure chest is that everything must be replaced in it before the children leave the room. Since the trunk has ample space for its contents, the assignment is a relatively simple one to follow and Sharon takes pride in leaving the room just as she finds it.

Besides the clothes' trunk there is a "Private Property" trunk in the playroom. It belongs to Sharon's father and no one else is supposed to bother it. It is usually kept locked. When Sharon asked her mother "Why?", her mother replied that it contained some valuable papers. Children aren't allowed in the playroom, when father is using it for his office.

On one particularly rainy day, father left the room in a hurry to make way for the children who were anxious to play there. He even forgot to throw the blanket over his "Private Property" trunk so that was the first thing Sharon did when she led her playmates into the room.

That day Betty was staying for supper with Sharon so she didn't have to leave with the other children. While the two girls were discussing what to play next, Betty recalled seeing Sharon put a blanket over the trunk, that she had always thought was just a place to sit. She inquired as to its contents and Sharon raised the blanket to reveal the trunk and pointed out to Betty that it was "Private Property".

Both girls noticed the lock was loose and Sharon finally agreed that it wouldn't hurt to peek under the lid. The peek wasn't exactly satisfying. The two girls began romancing about the valuable contents. All they could see on top was a layer of old papers. Lifting the edges of these papers, they just saw more papers. However, they couldn't find anything valuable by just lifting papers so they removed them neatly. There were some envelopes, too—bulgy ones. These had to be emptied, just in case something important was inside. The deeper Sharon and Betty dug into the forbidden trunk, the more exciting their search became and the more careless they became with the "useless" papers and envelopes. They decided what they were looking for must be at the very bottom of the trunk so there was a terrific scramble to see who could reach the bottom first. The girls just couldn't believe there wasn't anything special in the trunk so after they had emptied it, they really rummaged through the scattered heaps on the floor around them.

What a sorry mess they made of the private property when they finally returned it to father's trunk. Over half of the old papers couldn't be jammed into it no matter how hard they tried so the amazing surplus was dumped into the clothes trunk. Both girls felt very, very guilty. Betty decided she shouldn't stay for supper and Sharon couldn't explain why Betty wouldn't stay.

Fortunately, before father had had occasion to visit his third floor office, Sharon had confessed about opening the trunk and mother, understanding first-hand the power of the demon curiosity, devoted hours and hours to sorting, in an effort to restore order

Needlecraft News

by Pauline Roy

DURING the long winter evenings the thoughts of many women turn to needlecraft. In the quiet of your own living room while listening to a favorite program you can make many articles for your home or gift items for friends. Of all the needlecraft arts knitting seems to be one of the most popular. Knitted articles are quick and easy to do, and are truly beautiful.

Naturally, when you spend your precious time in knitting an article with your own hands, you'll want to care for it properly so that it will give you maximum wear and keep its attractive appearance for the longest possible time. Here are several hints that may be of help to you.

It is always better to wash your hand-knitted garments by hand yourself. When washing woolen garments be sure the water is lukewarm and that you have lots of suds. Clean the garment by gently squeezing suds through and through it, not by rubbing two surfaces of the garment together. A bar of soap should never be rubbed into soiled parts of a woolen article as this makes very difficult to remove every trace of soap when you rinse the garment. Remember, too, that a woolen garment should be supported by the hands when you are removing it from the water, because the weight of the wet garment may stretch the yarn.

Socks are best dried on a wooden stretcher, and you can press them on this type of stretcher too. Using a very damp cloth and a hot iron, use as little pressure as possible... it's the steam that presses your garment not the weight of the iron.

Sweaters and larger garments should be pressed in the same manner after they have been blocked. If you haven't a large table put a sheet on the carpet and, using a centre line, block your garment to the required measurements. Use rustproof pins at one inch intervals to secure the garment, tilting the heads of the pins outward to prevent the iron from conflicting with them when you press.

It's a little difficult to think about spring weather at this time of the year but here are a couple of pointers about storing your woolen garments when

THE HOMEMAKERS

Old Fashioned Homemade Soup

Soups have a wide variety of uses today. They may be used as the starter for a meal, as the main course, and also as the basis of casserole and other supper dishes.

As the first course of a heavy meal a light soup should be served, but with a light meal you may serve a fairly heavy soup and if the soup is to be the main part of the meal you will need one which is very substantial or a chowder of some kind. Cream soups and chowders are a good way to include milk in the meals if the members of the family don't like to drink it.

Soups made from stock are economical and easy to make. The two stocks most commonly used are the brown stock and the white stock. To make brown stock you need bones from dark colored meat and, for additional flavor and color, the bones should be well browned. This is easily done by placing them in a roasting pan in a hot oven for 30 to 40 minutes. After removing the bones add some water to the pan to get all the goodness and flavor possible and then add this liquid to the soup pot.

For a white stock use bones from light colored meat or poultry and do not brown the bones

Of course, in either case, there should be some meat on the bones. After adding the water and vegetables to the bones, bring the liquid slowly to the boil and then simmer slowly for two to three hours for it is the long, slow cooking which gives the stock its flavor. For additional flavor and nutritional value use the liquid from cooked vegetables in place of some of the water. After the stock is well cooked, strain it through cheesecloth, then allow it to cool, and before using, remove the layer of fat which will form on the top.

To make the stock clear add one egg white and shell to each quart of stock. Bring the stock slowly to the boil, stirring constantly, and let it boil for a couple of minutes. Then simmer the stock for about 20 minutes, strain through cheesecloth and it is ready to serve either just as it is or with additional ingredients.

Legume soups, such as pea and bean, are usually made with a piece of salt pork or left-over ham bone which gives them their distinctive flavor. The soup should be simmered slowly and when the peas or beans are tender it will be ready to serve as it comes from the pot or for a thicker soup it may be put through a coarse sieve.

Too many of us when serving soup are apt to forget the art of garnishing, for eye appeal is important when serving any food. So next time you are serving a bowl of soup add a sprig of parsley, a dash of paprika, a little grated Canadian Cheddar cheese or even a few croutons, depending upon the kind of soup.

PEA SOUP

1 lb. dried whole peas (2 1/2 cups)

4 qts. cold water
1 lb. salt pork or 1 ham bone
1 onion
Salt and pepper
Wash peas and soak in the cold water at least 4 hours. Add salt pork, in one piece and chopped onion. Bring soup gradually to boiling point. Then simmer slowly for three hours, or longer, or until peas are tender. Remove pork. Before serving, season with salt and pepper.

Now pay Yourself, too, on pay-day...with Personal Planning

Most people leave themselves out in the cold on pay-day. They pay the grocer and the baker... the milkman and the landlord. Everybody and his uncle dig into their pay envelopes but themselves.

Result—they're usually in a financial strait-jacket... and they worry. They worry about bills on hand. They worry about bills to come. They worry about unexpected bills. Money is always on their mind—sourcing their pleasure in living. And cobwebs gather on their plans for tomorrow.

What's the answer? There's only one...

... Personal Planning ...

Personal Planning is much more than just drawing up a budget. Budgets are often frustrating dog-collars. They usually tie you down and make life a very monotonous affair.

No, Personal Planning shows you how to live within your income and enjoy it. It's a complete financial program, cut from the pattern of your particular needs and problems.

Personal Planning won't help you make millions. But—given an honest chance—it will cure your "day-after-pay-day blues."

You'll learn how to make your budget work for you, instead of you working for it. And you'll also find that Personal Planning helps you realize your plans for tomorrow much sooner than you have dared to hope.

HERE'S WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT Personal Planning

The B of M featured Personal Planning on a test basis at the Canadian National Exhibition last autumn. In two weeks, 27,000 people asked for a copy of the B of M's booklet on Personal Planning. Here are some of the comments these people have volunteered:—
"A very workable budget. Your service is appreciated."
"... with we had started the plan long ago."
"Thank you so much for showing us the way to make a budget work. Have tried for a year with no success, but now I think we can really live and save with Personal Planning."
"The best yet."
"... appreciate commonsense method of handling money."
"Swell idea."
